Craig Pittman w/ The St. Petersburg Times would like EPA's comment on the Inside EPA story (inquiry below). Do we have a statement to release or would you prefer to do an interview?

Hi Dawn,

Hope you're doing well. I saw a story in Inside EPA that said the EPA had begun aerial surveys of homes in Central Florida that might be subject to dangerous levels of radiation from phosphate mining -- a preparation for a cleanup. I wanted to ask you about that.

Here's the story:
